

Summary of Research on Radicalization in the U.S.

Janja Lalic, Ph.D.
Professor Emerita of Sociology
California State University, Chico

FECRIS International Conference
Brussels, Belgium
19 May 2017

Caveat Emptor

- This presentation includes a review of selected articles and books by academics, policy researches, and members of the U.S. intelligence community.
- Unfortunately, the vast majority of the research in the U.S. focuses solely on radicalization and recruitment to such terrorist organizations as the Islamic State.
- In the academic literature and governmental reports, there are few, if any, direct connections made to any relationship to or similarity with cult phenomena – but occasionally there is some mention in the mass media.
- There is little recognition of other types of extremist radicalization, for example, of Far-Right or other hate groups or dangerous cults.

Some Basics

- There is general agreement on the following:

Possible Motivations

- Unfortunately, per Marc Sageman (one of the best known in this field): these individuals are far from being brainwashed – his evidence: some have families and/or went to college or graduate school.

One View of Radicalization: Data from Americans Who Went to Syria or Iraq (Hughes)

Recruitment of Children

Brainwashing Children

Qur'an:8:39 "Wage war on non-muslims and kill them until they submit and the only religion is Islam."

Radicalization via the Internet

Recruitment & Training: Examples

TalibanOnline: <http://www.jwebs.org/mpn>

- English-language

"The Taliban told me that they can fight against Army of Disbelievers by the help of Almighty Allah, but they know that their position in media is so week [sic]. All over the world the Jewish controlled media is brainwashing Muslims and non-Muslims who want to know the truth. That's why I, as a Computer Engineer, decided to use Internet, most powerful tool, to convey the message to all Muslims."

Radicalization of U.S.-Foreign Fighters

In just the past few years, we have seen an unprecedented "spike" in the homegrown terror threat, primarily driven by the rise of ISIS.

Policy Notes for Trump Administration: Executive Summary (Wash. Inst. For Near East Policy)

Formerly C/VE
Recommended P/CVE
But no.....
Now per Trump:
Countering Radical Islam

Policy Notes, continued

- Recommendation: Identify the extremist ideologies – from jihadism to white supremacy to leftist-inspired ethnocentric movements as a key driver of radicalization and mobilization to violence.

Policy Notes on Community Efforts

THE VOICE OF THE NATION'S LAW ENFORCEMENT COMMUNITY

As Seen In the March 2009 Issue

Muslim Outreach Operation Underway

The Los Angeles Sheriff's Department has assigned two of its Muslim officers to do outreach to other Muslims living and working in the southern California county.

Sergeant Mike Abdou and Deputy Sheriff Mostafa are part of the Muslim Community Affairs Unit, an outreach program established in August 2007 to address issues including hate crimes and discrimination facing the Muslim community.

"We are from the community," Deputy Mostafa explained.

"We understand the issues that matter to the community, and we provide a voice for the community."

The Muslim Community Affairs unit now includes a training program for the Muslim community on law enforcement issues, including domestic violence, gangs and identity theft.

The unit also trains department members about Islam and Muslims, tackling stereotypes such as beliefs and customs.

Academy recruits also receive a curriculum class on Muslim culture and background as part of the robust awareness training program.

And the learning goes two ways. "It's become an informational tool where the community can educate law enforcement as well," Mostafa notes.

The new LASD unit, established by Sheriff Lee Baca, has begun a Young Muslim American Leaders Group to engage and educate young Muslim professionals in the Los Angeles Area. The group meets monthly.

Deputy Mostafa notes

issues of the Muslim Community Affairs Unit are available for the community. "We're here if you need us," he says. "Having this partnership with the community allows the stigma that surrounds immigrant communities."

For more information go to: muslimaffairs.org or MuslimOutreach@laspd.org.

The best way to prevent violent extremism is to work with the Muslim American community.

— Barack Hussein Obama
Security & Counterterrorism Speech
National Defense University
May 23, 2013

facebook.com/ExtremelyPissedOffRightWingers2 20130501.com

We all play a role in keeping our community safe.
Report suspicious activity to local authorities.

if you SEE SAY something something

Call 888-123-4567 (888-XXXXXXX) or dial 9-1-1

Conclusion

- WE HAVE M

References

- Alexander, Audrey. (2016, November). Cruel Intention: Female Jihadists in America. Washington, DC: Program on Extremism, George Washington University.
- Berger, Peter. (2016). United States of Jihad: Investigating America's Homegrown Terrorists. New York: Crown.
- Bloom, Mia and John Horgan. (2015). "The Rise of Child Terrorists: The Young Faces at the Frontlines." Foreign Affairs, Vol. 2, No. 9.
- Bryman, Daniel. (2017, March/April). "How to Hunt a Lone Wolf: Countering Terrorists Who Act on Their Own." Foreign Affairs.
- Ellis, Heidi and Saida Abdi. (2017). "Building Community Resilience to Violent Extremism Through Genuine Partnerships." American Psychologist 72(3): 289-300.
- Crenshaw, Martha. (2011). Explaining Terrorism: Causes, Processes and Consequences. London and New York: Routledge.
- Engel, Pamela. (2016, August 9). "ISIS is raising a new generation of terrorist fighters – and its system of indoctrination is 'unprecedented'." Business Insider.
- Gurski, Phil. (2016). The Threat from Within: Recognizing Al Qaeda-Inspired Radicalization in the West. Lanham, MD: Rowman & Littlefield.
- Horgan, John. (2005). The Psychology of Terrorism. London and New York: Routledge.
- _____. (2009). Walking Away from Terrorism: Accounts of Disengagement from Radical and Extremist Movements. London and New York: Routledge.
- _____. (2017). "Psychology of Terrorism: Introduction to the Special Issue." American Psychologist, 72(3): 199-204.
- Hunter, Samuel T., Neil D. Shortland, Matthew P. Crayne, and Gina S. Ligon. (2017). "Recruitment and Selection in Violent Extremist Organizations: Exploring What Industrial and Organizational

References, continued

- Hughes, Seamus. (2016, May 18). “Islamic State is successfully radicalizing Americans. How do we stop them?” Los Angeles Times.
- _____. (2016, August 7). “To Stop ISIS Recruitment, Focus Offline.” Lawfare.
- Levitt, Matthew (Ed.). 2017, March. Washington Institute for Near East Policy. 2017, March. Transition 2017: Policy Notes for the Trump Administration. Defeating Ideologically Inspired Violent Extremism: A Strategy to Build Strong Communities and Protect the U.S. Homeland. Washington, DC: The Washington Institute for Near East Policy.
- McCauley, Clark and Sophia Moskalenko. (2017). Understanding Political Radicalization: The Two